After watching

6. a Find someone who has moved to Italy from another country and interview them about their experiences. You can follow the suggestions at teacher.scholastic.com/products/read180/community/pdfs/rBkProj\_B\_W1\_E.pdf. Write a brief report of what you found out.

b PW If it's not possible to find a person who has come to your country, work in pairs and role play an interview where one of you has come from another culture to live in Britain and the other is a student interviewing for a school magazine. In pairs write the article for the school magazine based on your interview.

7. Read the Web page on acceptable social behaviour in the UK at www.projectbritain.com/behaviour.html#rules: how many of these rules are valid for Italy? What other rules on social behaviour could you add to help someone integrate into your society?

8. Read this comment by an English woman living in a multicultural area of North London. Do you agree with what she says?

Mary Kemp, 82, has lived on the estate with her husband, Bill, since it was opened.

She said: "We moved here from a house with no bathroom. It was like a holiday camp and that remains the case. We are pure English and do you know what that means? It means being tolerant of people, regardless of colour or creed. It means embracing people who are different from you. That's why we stayed here."
