The story so far...

All the young, first year, magicians and witches have now arrived at Hogwarts and need to be divided into their houses. To do this they have a very unique method. They use a hat, called the 'sorting hat,' which can talk and read people's character just by sitting on their head. In this way it can decide the best house for each person. The first-year students are all now in the big hall being 'sorted.'
